Yes. Sorry that slipped my mind as I have been on spills since last Thursday.

Just as we spoke with a courtesy notification to the state agencies.

Thank you,

JJ,

Thank you for your response. During our talks we also discussed discontinuing containment and collection of storm water from drains around the Eisenbarth Pad Site. Do you agree that Statoil can discontinue this activity?

Hello Steve,

U.S. EPA is currently finalizing its comments to the Draft Work Plan submitted for review per the AOC. However, until the letter is finalized and Per our discussion earlier this week, let the email document U.S. EPA's approval to discontinue sampling activities currently being performed under work plans approved during the initial response to the Eisenbarth Well Pad incident. All future sampling will be conducted per the approved Work Plan once it is finalized.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to call.

Thank you,
